

LIVE BLOOD ANALYSIS FOR GROWING CHILDREN

A CLOSER LOOK AT WHAT YOUR CHILD'S BODY IS TELLING YOU

Young children often can't put words to what's happening inside their bodies. A tummy ache, low energy, or trouble concentrating can just look like 'being difficult' rather than a physical clue. Live Blood Analysis is a simple, non-invasive way to look behind the scenes, so decisions about your child's health are based on real insight rather than guesswork.

WHAT IS LIVE BLOOD ANALYSIS?

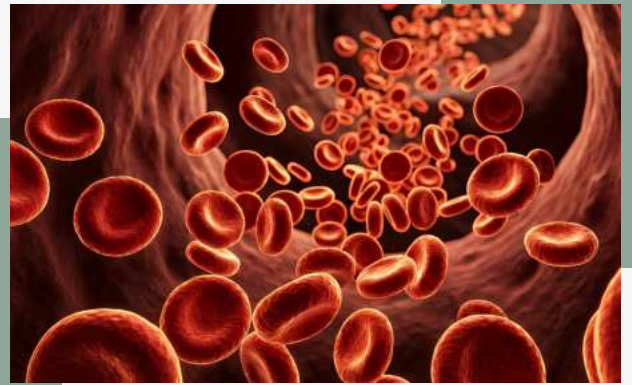

With just two drops of blood from a finger prick, we examine your child's live blood cells under a high-powered microscope in real time. Watching the cells as they are - rather than waiting days for a lab report - gives an immediate window into what's going on at a cellular level.

WHY THIS MATTERS ESPECIALLY FOR CHILDREN

- Children can't always describe what they're feeling - a foggy head, low energy, or a sensitive tummy often shows up as behaviour rather than a clear complaint
- It gives a direct starting point, rather than a process of trial and error with different supplements
- It helps avoid both under-supplementing a genuine need and over-supplementing with things a child's body doesn't actually require
- No two children's bodies work in exactly the same way - this test respects that, rather than applying a one-size-fits-all approach

WHAT IT CAN REVEAL

Live Blood Analysis can help uncover nutritional deficiencies, imbalances, and potential health risks specific to your child - giving your doctor or Naturopath the insight needed to build a personalised wellness plan covering nutrition, lifestyle, and any natural supplementation that's genuinely needed.

WHAT HAPPENS NEXT

Once we understand what your child's body is actually asking for, we can move straight to addressing it - rather than spending months working through supplements that were never the right fit. It offers an evidence-informed starting point for any treatment plan.
